

HOW CAN YOU DE-AGE YOUR BODY JUST AS OTHERS ARE STARTING TO CREAK FROM THEIR NECK TO THEIR FEET?

JUST FOLLOW THIS EASY 5-POINT RUST-PROOFING PLAN

- 1. CALORIE RESTRICTION. Eat a third less, live twice as long. It works for mice, fish and spiders, why not you? Plus, when you eat less, it puts less strain on all your major organs, plus you generate less free radical waste by eating less, thus requiring fewer antioxidants to counter the natural wear and tear of food consumption.
- 2. FRUITS & VEGETABLES GALORE! No other food source contains as many antioxidants as fruits and vegetables. When you eat 10 a day, you immediately help neutralize the negative effects of free radicals, plus you add much needed fiber to your diet.
- 3. SUNLIGHT & BOUNCING! Sunlight is the best source of vitamin D, so 15 to 20 minutes of walking in sunlight is one of the best and easiest things you can do for your health. Jumping on a rebounder is the best way to increase your lymphatic circulation which is the best way to dispose of your body's metabolic waste.
- 4. WATER & SLEEP! Water is the elixir of life because it's a natural laxative that also helps carry off metabolic waste from all your cells. Sleep is essential to combat free radical damage because levels of the master antioxidant are replenished during sleep.
- 5. TAKE THE WORLD'S BEST ANTIOXIDANTS! Fruits, vegetables, sunlight, rebounding and sleep are essential to combat free radicals, but still it's nearly impossible to fight the onslaught of free radicals without a little extra boost. That's where Longevity Warrior™ comes to the rescue. It's loaded with the best-of-the best antioxidants to fight the process of oxidation – just as Rustoleum® helps minimize the effects of rust on metal.

HOW TO...

RUST-PROOF

YOUR BODY & REAP THE REWARDS NOW!

Leave a cut apple out in the air, and in five minutes it turns brown. Expose a piece of iron to water and air and it rusts. Turn 50 and the body starts to sag, drag and creak. What's going on?

When an apple turns brown or metal rusts, it's a sign of the chemical process known as oxidation and this also happens to you as a result of simply using oxygen.

In 1954, Dr. Denham Harmon, an organic chemist at the University of California, theorized that oxidants were the cause of aging, as well as the major cause of most diseases. His theory has continued to hold up over the past half century.

Free radicals (or reactive oxygen molecules) cause damage to the cellular structures and tissues, and this damage is what we call oxidative stress – the stress put on our bodies by the use of oxygen. Oxygen gives you life, but it also comes at a price.

When you look at disease and illness on a cellular level, you find mitochondrial damage or dysfunction occurring in almost every major type of illness including Alzheimer's, hepatitis, heart disease, stroke, diabetes and cancer.

Common sources of free radicals are toxins such as pesticides, petrochemicals, food preservatives and pollution in our air, water and soil.

Almost every organ can be susceptible to damage from oxidative stress. And the symptoms are countless including fatigue, muscle weakness, muscle and joint pain, digestive problems, anxiety, depression, and itchy skin.
